

First Lady Flowering Cherry

Prunus 'First Lady'

An ornamental flowering tree that features a profuse bloom of single, dark rose-pink flowers in early spring. Red calyxes provide post-bloom ornamental color for three weeks after the flowers drop.

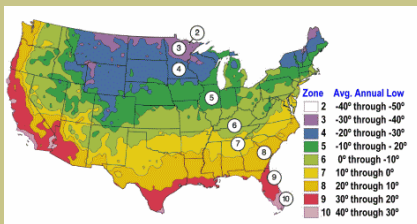

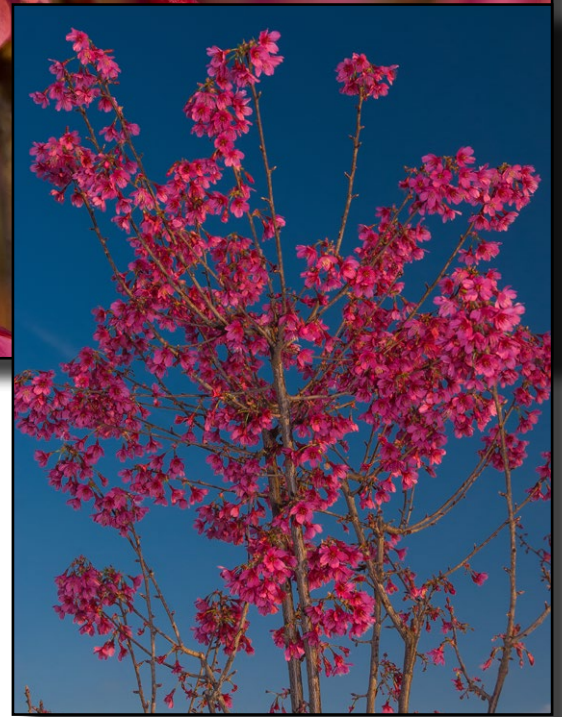

Flowers give way to small dark red drupes eaten by birds. Glossy dark green leaves.

Parents of this hybrid are P. 'Okame' and P. campanulata.

Grows to 20-30' tall with an upright, almost columnar habit of only 14' wide.

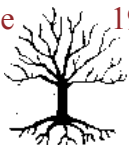

Does well in mild winter areas too.

Cold hardy to U.S.D.A. Zone 6.
