

Taiwan Flowering Cherry

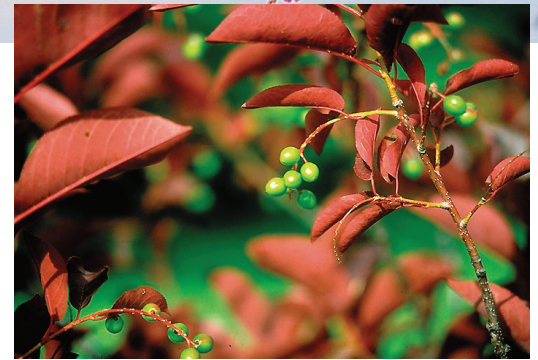

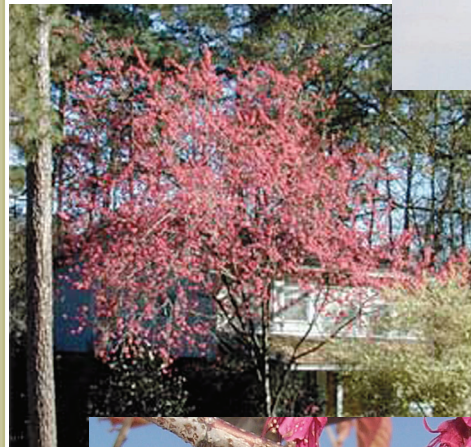

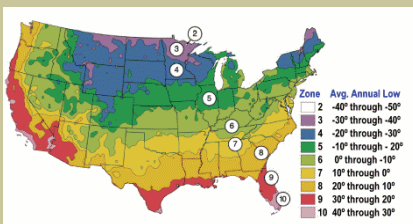

Prunus campanulata

Taiwan Cherry is a small, deciduous tree with dense branching, a graceful, spreading habit. The bark is smooth and reddish brown. Deep rosy-pink, bell-shaped flowers, about an inch across, appear in profusion before the leaves in early spring. They are borne in 2-6 inch clusters, and are very showy. The fruit is a small cherry, about an 1/8" in diameter, ripening to black. The leaves of the tree turn bronze in the fall.

Does well in mild winter climates.

Grows to a height of 18-25 feet and spread of 18-25 feet.

Cold Hardy to U.S.D.A. Zone 8.
